Turns out the resistance is behind the poppings and you become a resistance member to find out what's going on. In the end you discover Leadbelly's typewriter is haunted - and is manifesting their mysteries into real life

2 — VANISHING ACT - Zenia is Public Enemy NO1! There's posters all over town and you reach out to the resistance (Sparks!) to see if you can help. Unfortunately what you uncover is not great news — Zenia is an AI Bot, created by Jonas. She's no longer needed...the takeover of the Old Town is almost complete! You made sure to tell Sparks about the betrayal

3 — NYLON GENESIS EVANGELICAL — Pius has a problem with furniture turning up unannounced at his church! You do some digging on his behalf and find you can get rid of the infernal furniture with songs about how bad the furniture is. Cue bad singing about shoddy workmanship

4 — FORTUNE FAVOURS THE FURB - Cogwright has half a treasure map and is looking for Treasure Hunters. Furbish is involved and you seek out his best friend in Phantom Peak - Copper - for more info. From there you find out the other half of the map is held by a group called FUPA (Furbish Protection Act). Turns out the "treasure" is Furbish! He's alive, and waiting underground for the right time to return.

5 — LITTLEFIELD'S LITTLE FRIEND — Littlefield has a new robot friend in the Jonapost office - but it keeps eating letters! You trace the fault to a dangerous error that means the bot will kill whomever the owner loves most - and Littlefield LOVES Jonas! Unfortunately, that's the second new civilisation Littlefield has now killed!

6 — PLAY WITH FIRE — You find the saloon burnt out after an arson attack-with Nethersole reportedly dying in the fire. However, it turns out Nethersole faked their death due to guilt over selling the town out and allowing Jonaco in!

7 — WHO YOU GONNA JONAGRAPH? - Spectre is worried about a rival Paranormal Investor outfit - GhoulBusters. After using Halloway's recent ghost sightings to contact them, you discover they GhoulBusters are actually demons, and Vox - Spectre's partner - gives you instructions to get rid of them with the Mirrors

8 — WAR OF THE REELS — Hogwood is reeling after discovering her nemesis — Boarbark — has won best film at the recent Film Festival! You decide to do some sniffing around and eventually discover that she's been using a JonaCamera. Unfortunately that camera causes memory loss...and it turns out Hogwood and Boarbark are one and the same...the camera just kept making Hogwood forget she was using her pen name!

9 — KINDRED SPIRITS - Dr Winter is looking for some evil apprentices - you apply and are tasked with finding out more about a tiny evil hat Winter has found. After some digging around and discussions with a spooked Sparks, you reveal it is Terence the Talking Platypus (created by Sparks in an earlier season) seeking revenge!. Winter seems impressed by the talking platypus!

10 — PITY PARADE - Perigate needs help preparing for the big parade! You are tasked with fixing RoboDJ. By doing so, you discover Madame Mechnica is involved and is being stopped from hacking the mainframe by an alarm. You need a distraction so you fake a birth certificate to say it's Jonas's birthday, causing massive embarrassment and a rank decrease for Perigate who asks all to sing Happy Birthday at the closing ceremony - it turns out it is NOT Jonas's birthday at all!

Secret Trail:

11 — The Big Day — You watch a videomatic of a conversation between Dr. Winter and Jonas — Something is under Phantom Peak and its power source appears to be their target. You told Winter what you know...
